THE FIGHT FOR YPRES.

The situation has changed in regard to the Ypres situation within the past week. The German offensive cannot be considered ended and cannot be claimed that Ypres may not yet have to be evacuated, but it been made evident as the days go on that though Germany still continues to indicate that it has men to throw against the slaughtering fire of the enemy, the alles are steadily growing stronger and the new control is bringing about the improve-ment that was expected of it.

There are reasons to believe that the entente forces had fully prepared made plain that the allies are not is certainly a great opportunity for moved with a flannel dipped in paraffin and afterwards wiped with a cloth as yet been able to get the benefit from Kemmel hill which they had anticipated and the assaults made upon the hills to the west have broken down the allied resistance. Ypres still strongly held and Germany undoubtedly realizes that the cost of taking it from that direction would not compensate for the losses that would be sustained. Even the efforts to the south have failed and even though the retention of Ypres is perhaps more a matter of sentiment than anything else it is not going to be abandoned without a struggle-worthy of the de-

UNREST IN AUSTRIA.

As time goes on it is made evident that all we hear about the unstable conditions and lack of unity in Austria-Hungary is not simply talk and it is quite evident that it is not all propaganda put forth to confuse the llies and cause them to turn their shoughts to consideration of peace. For a long time there has been un

Labor has time and ngain been showing its disan tion, certain of the people have 1 30 working for peace and in the governing bodies much opposition and embarrassment has resulted from the position taken by the representatives of

That these conditions had much to do with the famous letter which was written by Emperor Charles cannot be doubted.
